If life is a game, poker is the American version. We invented it, outshine the world with it, and hardly a child grows to maturity without knowing how to play it. The dictionary claims the player with the highest card value wins but in the American version, having the highest card value does not guarantee success. It takes much more to win at poker, just as it takes much more to win at the game of life. Sailor is a poker player, the best in his profession. Danielle is Sailor's daughter and, as the story begins, a thirteen year old without a mother to support and guide her. It is the game of life Sailor and daughter are involved in. It is the game of poker, American version, that saves them both.

It was late at night; very, very late at night. But somehow little Danielle Tiny couldn't sleep. Slowly she climbed out of the milk duds box that served as her bed, being careful not to disturb her brother, Aaron Tiny, who slept above her in an M&M box and her tiny twin sister Rachelle who slept nearby. Rachelle's bed was made from a peppermint candies box. Their mom and dad had made all their beds out of candy boxes so they would have sweet dreams every night, but tonight it wasn't working. Danielle shivered in the dark. Something was different. She didn't know what it was, but she could feel it. Slowly she snuck out of the room. When she was in the hallway, suddenly she heard a loud noise. CRACK! It sounded like it was right next to her. Danielle froze in her tracks. Her fuzzy brown hair stood straight up on its ends, making her a whole one-quarter inch taller than her normal three inches. She was too scared to even run to her mom and dad's room. Then, as she listened further, she began to hear the rain pattering on the big people's roof far above her head. "Oh, it's just a rainstorm." Danielle said, laughing at herself. "I'm going up to the lookout place and watch it." The lookout place was a special place to the Tinys. A couple of years before, a small chunk of plaster had fallen off the outside of the building. Before the big people noticed the hole, the Tinys got up there and covered it over with a piece of glass. Once she was in the lookout place, Danielle scooted herself all the way over to the edge of the window seat and leaned against the glass. The older Tinys never let her get this close before. They always said that the glass might fall out and send her plunging hundreds and hundreds of inches to the pavement below, but Danielle didn't believe them. Suddenly the glass popped out of its slot and tumbled out the hole. Danielle waved her arms wildly, trying to keep her balance, but it was no good. She also fell out the hole! Find out what happens to Danielle when she falls out the hole and into the big people's world. The Tinys are a family of very small people that live inside the walls of a big person's apartment. In many ways Tinys are like littles, but they don't have tails like littles do. There are four children in the Tiny family. Gabrielle (or Brie as she is better known) is the oldest. Then comes Aaron, the only boy. After Aaron are the twins, Danielle and Rachelle. They all live with their mother and father. Living nearby are their grandmother and their Aunti Karen, who they spend a lot of time with. The Tinys all live in the walls of an apartment that belongs to the Martin family. In the Martin Family there are the parents, June and Jerry, and their only child, Peter. They also have three cats! As you may know, cats love to chase things that are smaller than they are, and tinys are just the right size for a cat to chase. The cats will pounce on the tinys and bat them around. They may not mean to hurt the tinys, but they do. That's why tinys don't like cats. The Tinys work hard at making things work. They like to recycle things that the big people throw away. They also like parties, and good times, and spending time together. In many ways, Tinys are just like you and me, only smaller. Read about the adventures of the Tinies in this series. Ages 7 to 12. Too disillusioned with men more concerned about the size of her jeans instead of the size of her heart. Love could come later. If it came at all. Danielle would never have thought being pressured into a last minute blind-date by her favorite cousin aka best-friend would drop the perfect man in her lap. Perhaps a little too perfect for her. Christian Lawrence is far from perfect. At least that's what his Ex said. Christian finds himself in a new city trying to piece his life back together after a break-up he should have seen coming a mile away. knows exactly who she is, and that includes being a girl who likes girls, not guys. At one point she had a girl in every port, but these days they've all run off to find their own place in the world or live with that "special someone" who Jessica has never desired or discovered. Danielle was raised on fairy tales, with Prince Charming and the big, white wedding where she's made a princess and lives happily ever after. That is until a few bad experiences with guys in high school show her the true nature of boys and that Prince Charming could easily turn out to be an ogre. Now she doesn't know which end is up, but she still has her dreams of maybe acting or modeling, since being someone's princess looks like something that is never going to happen. When an opportunity to travel to Los Angeles to visit her Aunt and Uncle presents itself, Danielle jumps at it, as her Aunt works for all the studios in Hollywood. Since Danielle did well in drama in high school, she decides to see if she can turn some of her dreams into reality with this trip. One fine summer day finds Danielle and Jessica standing on the same studio set. Jessica takes one look at Danielle and is instantly smitten, that is until she finds out how young this girl really is, and that she's related to a woman she works with on a regular basis. Jessica does, however, offer to help Danielle get started. Danielle decides to seek out Jessica's assistance. Together they take on the world, making Danielle's career actually take off. At the same time, Jessica's feelings for this beautiful, sexy, young girl grows and grows, as they go forth in the world platonically working together, until things come crashing to a meeting of the minds... Can Jessica win Danielle over without scaring her away, and is that the right thing to do? Will their differences break them apart or pull them together? Will each of them make their dreams and desires a reality, allowing them to live happily ever after?
