Distant Thunder contains authentic short stories, poems, and excerpts from novels by ethnic minority writers. Informed by reader response theory, the text uses student-centered activities and a reading-process approach to literature. In the spirit of communicative language teaching, Distant Thunder provides abundant opportunities for students to share their written and spoken responses. The text is rich with themes of inner conflict and cultural confrontation and adaptation. It contains stories and poems by Americans of Chinese, Japanese, Indian, Mexican, Native-American, and African descent, whose work will engage readers and encourage meaningful communication. Distant Thunder contains ten units, each centering on a single story or poem accompanied by student-centered, reader response activities and language exercises. The book introduces various literary structures (such as point of view, character, setting) and devotes a section in each unit to a focus on language. The text encourages students and teachers to discover meaning together. Teachers can guide the students's transaction with the stories and poems using the text's numerous activities, ensuring a relevant and meaningful language experience with its high-interest literature.

The mission of the International Journal of Educational Reform (IJER) is to keep readers up-to-date with worldwide developments in education reform by providing scholarly information and practical analysis from recognized international authorities. As the only peer-reviewed scholarly publication that combines authors' voices without regard for the political affiliations perspectives, or research methodologies, IJER provides readers with a balanced view of all sides of the political and educational mainstream. To this end, IJER includes, but is not limited to, inquiry based and opinion pieces on developments in such areas as policy, administration, curriculum, instruction, law, and research. IJER should thus be of interest to professional educators with decision-making roles and policymakers at all levels turn since it provides a broad-based conversation between and among policymakers, practitioners, and academicians about reform goals, objectives, and methods for success throughout the world. Readers can call on IJER to learn from an international group of reform implementers by discovering what they can do that has actually worked. IJER can also help readers to understand the pitfalls of current reforms in order to avoid making similar mistakes. Finally, it is the mission of IJER to help readers to learn about key issues in school reform from movers and shakers who help to study and shape the power base directing educational reform in the U.S. and the world.
