The Apple Campus is located on the southeast corner of Interstate 280 and De Anza Boulevard, and occupies 32 acres (130,000 m<sup>2</sup>) in six buildings spread over four floors. Each building is numbered with one digit on the private U-shaped street Infinite Loop, so named because of the programming concept

Its an infinite loop because the engine can't know that Input will ever == ApplePosition. Also you need to be prepared for the very real possibility that this solution will overshoot the apple between frames. I think you want to look into pathfinding and nav meshes to move your character to this apple :)
